CM to Give Away Title Deeds to 1L People on Feb 13

Our Bureau

Bengaluru: Chief minister Siddaramaiah will give home ownership deeds to one lakh people at a public event at Haveri on February 13 as the Congress regime celebrates completion of 1,000 days in office.

The campaign was kickstarted in May last year by AICC leader Rahul Gandhi, who launched distribution of home ownership deeds to 1,11,111 people at an event in Hospet, fulfilling a pledge he had made during a visit to Karnataka in 2015.

These are nomadic, semi-nomadic and other rural farming communities who have had settlements on public or private lands, which were not recorded as villages. They will now be recognised as revenue villages. Revenue minister Krishna Byre Gowda, who is leading the campaign, addressed deputy commissioners through videoconferencing on Thursday and asked them to keep all relevant records and title deeds ready in the next one week of the revenue villages. "These people are a vulnerable segment of the society, living in their houses for decades with no solution to uncertainty in their lives. We are giving them title deeds which will bring them certainty to what matters the most to them — their homes," Gowda told ET.

The government would be giving the title deeds visiting their doorsteps without inviting or expecting a single application from them, the revenue minister said. The government estimates four lakh people to benefit from the February 13 title distribution event.

During his first stint as CM, Siddaramaiah, following up on Gandhi's pledge, had the law amended in 2017 as per recommendations of a task force. The amendment declared these hamlets to be "revenue villages" and provided for the issue of title documents to individual houses, the revenue minister said. Since the Congress came to power in 2023, the revenue department took it up as a major campaign and is determined to complete the exercise.

Tharoor Meets Rahul, Kharge; Says All Are on Same Page

New Delhi: Congress MP Shashi Tharoor's closed-door discussion with party leaders Rahul Gandhi and Mallikarjun Kharge at the latter's office in Parliament on Thursday appears to have started a thaw in the frosty relations between the Thiruvananthapuram MP and the party leadership.

Tharoor skipping a recent Congress meeting in the wake of Gandhi reportedly ignoring him at a Kochi public event, and the subsequent buzz about the CPI-M (besides BJP) trying to woo the Congress MP in poll-bound Kerala, formed the immediate background and context of the three leaders meeting. "We had a very good and constructive discussion. All is good, and we are moving together on the same page," Tharoor said in response to media questions after the nearly two-hour-long meeting. Asked whether he will campaign for the party, he said, "I have always campaigned for the party." While Tharoor refused to speak on the details of the discussion, Gandhi and Kharge made no comments about it either. However, sources indicated that Tharoor raised some of his nagging concerns, including lack of meaningful and constructive working space in the party organisation. — OPB

LEGISLATURE PARTY MEET

Cong MLAs Raise Concerns over Cancellation of BPL Cards

Our Bureau

Bengaluru: Chief minister Siddaramaiah has come under pressure from a section of Congress legislators to restore the below poverty line (BPL) cards that have been eliminated in a recent government drive. These lawmakers raised the subject at the Congress legislature party (CLP) meeting on Wednesday night as some of their own voters have been affected.

The food and civil supplies department has been on an overdrive to weed out BPL cards of ineligible families, but many eligible cardholders too have ended up losing their cards. Some Congress MLAs worry that the affected poor people might show their anger at the upcoming civic polls. Siddaramaiah chaired the meeting and listened to the complaints. The chief minister, in fact, has always been firm that people in permanent government jobs and paying income taxes don't deserve BPL cards.

About a year ago, the CM held a review meeting where he came across some new facts. Several low-income families, dependent on free food grains every month, found their cards axed. The review followed enormous pressure from Opposition parties with campaigns targeting the government for its attempts to overhaul the BPL card beneficiary list in a bid to weed out the non-poor people.

The CM is said to have also come across cases where people who filed

I-T returns for the sake of availing loans had been struck off the list.

An official said the revenue authorities have to visit homes and certify the poverty status in cases where people have contested cancellation of their cards. But revenue officials are not showing much interest as it relates to the food department, he added, while declining to be identified.

QCO framework aligned to industry readiness proposed

STRATEGIC SHIFT. Overly narrow transition periods can unintentionally burden MSMEs

Amiti Sen
New Delhi

The Economic Survey 2026 has upheld Quality Control Orders (QCOs) as vital tools for mitigating reputational risks linked to inconsistent quality. However, it simultaneously called for a strategic shift to ensure these regulations do not become a burden on MSMEs.

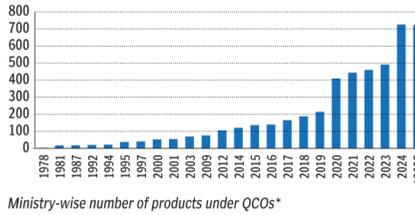

The Survey proposed a 'forward-looking' QCO framework featuring rigorous pre-notification assessments, calibrated transition periods, adequate national testing capacity and a stronger alignment with industry readiness.

"Critically, where sufficient domestic production capacity does not exist, the framework should provide exemptions or alternative pathways for specialised inputs such as raw materials, intermediates, spare parts, and quantities required for R&D," the Survey stated.

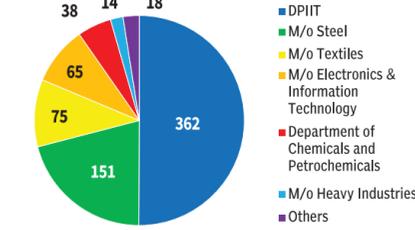

MSMEs often lack the capital to establish in-house testing facilities or adapt quickly to new certification requirements. "Overly narrow transition periods can also lead to production delays, supply disruptions, and rising inventory costs, unintentionally burdening the firms QCOs are meant to support," it said.

QCOs are regulatory measures issued by the government, primarily under the BIS Act, 2016, to mandate that specific products conform to Indian standards. They prohibit the import, or domestic sale of sub-standard goods, requiring products to bear the BIS hallmark. The Survey observations are important in the context of recent suggestions made by a panel headed by NITI Aayog member Rajiv Gauba proposing the scrapping of 27 existing QCOs covering critical industrial inputs such as plastics, polymers, base metals, footwear and electronic components to ease pressure on manufacturers. It also proposed suspending QCOs on 112 products and deferring upcoming orders.

Referring to the decision by the government to revoke or suspend QCOs on several items spanning sectors such as chemicals, plastics, textile, non-ferrous metals and steel following the NITI Aayog report, the Survey said the government recognised the importance of a balanced and adaptive approach.

TOYS SECTOR

The Survey highlighted the toys sector as a QCO success story of introduction of the regulation accompanied by improved compliance and a reduction in the circulation of substandard products.

"Beyond quality, consumer and workplace safety also provide an equally compelling justification for mandatory standards. QCOs on products ranging from electrical appliances to helmets are essential for protecting public welfare and maintaining market confidence," it observed.

PLI delivers export gains, but performance uneven across sectors

Amiti Sen
New Delhi

The government's flagship production linked incentive (PLI) scheme, introduced in April 2020 to enhance domestic manufacturing and promote exports, has achieved "remarkable trade performance". However, there exists a variation in the trade performance within these sectors, the Economic Survey 2026 has said.

"A notable outcome of the PLI initiative has been the remarkable trade performance of these sectors. During the period FY21-FY25, the average annual growth rate (AAGR) of exports from this sector stands at 10.6 per cent, while imports have experienced an AAGR of 12.6 per cent," the Survey observed.

But this increase mostly came from a few sectors which recorded high export growth exceeding 20 per cent during FY21-25. These include IT hardware (77.2 per cent), ACC batteries (45 per cent), electronics (38.8 per cent), solar PV (23.9 per cent), and speciality steel (22.5 per cent), per the Survey.

In contrast, certain sectors, of the total 14 sectors covered under the scheme, demonstrated moderate export growth (with their growth rates below 20 per cent in the comparable period). These include automobiles (14.1 per cent), textiles (7.8 per cent), food products (6.7 per cent), pharma (6 per cent), medical devices (6.5 per cent), white goods (4.8 per cent), bulk drugs/active pharmaceutical ingredients (APIs) (3.5 per cent), and drones (3.9 per cent).

EXPORT EXPANSION

This export expansion has been accompanied by an increase (AAGR) in imports that has been moderate in electronics (17.6 per cent), IT hardware (16 per cent) and speciality steel (17.5 per cent), but substantially higher in solar PV (155.4 per cent) and ACC batteries (24.9 per cent).

"These trends indicate a scaling up of production capacity and the integration of value chains, suggesting that domestic manufacturing is not only maturing but is also beginning to leverage imported intermediate goods to facilitate higher-value exports," the Survey stated.

The electronics sector has emerged as a flagship success story under the PLI strategy. "The PLI Scheme has encouraged major smartphone companies to re-locate their production to India. As a result, India has become a major mobile phone manufacturing hub," it said.

The pharma sector, too, has fared well under the scheme. In the first three years, pharmaceutical sales under the scheme crossed ₹2.63 lakh crore, including exports worth ₹1.69 lakh crore. Overall, domestic value addition in the sector has been 83.74 per cent as on March 2025.

Explore ban on marketing of ultra processed foods from 6 am-11 pm, stricter labelling norms

Meenakshi Verma Ambwani
New Delhi

With India emerging as one of the fastest growing markets for ultra-processed foods (UPFs), the Economic Survey on Thursday said policy measures, including "marketing ban" of such products from morning till late night, should be explored.

Stating that a multi-pronged approach is needed to address the challenge of increased consumption of UPFs, the Survey added that the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) should set clear definition, standards and stricter labelling requirements for the segment.

Retail sales of UPFs in India surged from $0.9 billion in 2006 to nearly $38 billion in 2019, a 40-fold rise. The rising use of UPFs imposes a substantial economic cost through higher healthcare spending, lost productivity and long-term fiscal strain, the Survey noted.

BEHAVIOUR CHANGE

In India, so far policies have largely focused on advocacy to reduce consumption of foods, which are high in added fats, sugar and sodium, many of which are UPFs. "However, improving diets cannot depend solely on consumer behaviour change; it will require coordinated policies across food systems that regulate UPF production, promote healthier and more sustainable diets and marketing," the Survey noted.

"The option of a marketing ban on UPFs from 0600 hours to 2300 hours for all media, and enforcing restrictions on the marketing of infant and toddler milk and beverages, could be explored," the Survey recommended.

The Survey pointed out that while there are policy codes and guidelines that prohibit misleading, unverified, or unhealthy advertisements but does not define 'misleading' with measurable or nutrient-based criteria and also lack clear nutrient thresholds. "This regulatory ambiguity allows companies marketing UPFs to continue making vague 'health,' 'energy,' or 'nutrition' cues without violating any clearly defined standard, highlighting a critical policy gap that needs reform," the Survey noted.

It stressed on a multi-pronged approach to address the concerns arising from the increased inclusion of UPFs in diets in India.

A pitch for real-time TDS

Kumar Shankar Roy
Chennai

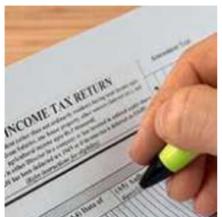

The Economic Survey has floated an operational overhaul to improve the efficiency of government collections and potentially earn more on idle cash balances. It suggests shifting tax deducted at source, or TDS, remittances from the current batch-based process to a real-time model by requiring banks to remit TDS on a real-time basis rather than in periodic batches.

The idea is to reduce lags between tax deduction and its arrival in government accounts, strengthening collection efficiency.

Faster inflows could also leave the government with temporary cash surpluses at various points in the year, depending on the timing of expenditure.

VISIBLE CHANGE

To make better use of these short-term balances, the Survey says the government could, if necessary, engage a treasury manager to invest the surplus in liquid instruments, thereby earning more returns on its cash balances. In effect, it links a payments-rail change with a cash-management upgrade.

The idea is to reduce lags between tax deduction and its arrival in government accounts, strengthening collection efficiency.

For the common taxpayer, the main visible change could be quicker reflection of TDS credits in Form 26AS/AIS, if real-time remittance and reporting systems work smoothly.

If taken forward, the proposal would be more of a systems and process change than a tax rate move, and could require coordination between banks and tax authorities to redesign remittance flows and reporting.

A monster car that keeps you productive

With a sharper design and an AI assistant, the new Mercedes-Benz S-Class is engineered for luxury, performance and life on schedule

Renuka Kirpalani

We were granted an exclusive preview of the 2026 S-Class in Sindelfingen, Germany, two months ahead of its global unveil.

Security was understandably tight: phones were taken away, and we were ushered deep into the factory, where massive black curtains concealed the car. When the curtains were drawn back, the silhouette was familiar—stately and elegant, yet the front told a very different story.

The nose is entirely new. In keeping with Mercedes-Benz's recent design direction, the grille has grown by 20% and now features four horizontal chrome bars instead of three.

Look closer and you will notice it is formed from intricate 3-D chrome stars and is fully illuminated. Even the upright three-pointed star on the bonnet can now glow as an optional feature. Flanking the grille are the new digital light twin-star headlamps, which aren't just about visual drama. Innovative micro-LED technology expands the illumination field, while the dynamic high-beam system can project light up to 600m without consuming additional energy. The lights also swivel and offer a partial high-beam function that avoids dazzling oncoming traffic. At the rear, the tail-lamps receive a fresh design featuring three chrome-framed stars.

Step inside and the familiar end-to-end Superscreen layout remains, but almost everything around it is new. A redesigned instrument panel, new door trims, and a reworked centre console bring a sense of freshness.

The Superscreen appears to float atop the dashboard, stretching seamlessly into the doors. Broader central air vents and an extended lowered band enhance the sense of width and space, an effect that continues into the rear door panels. Herringbone open-pore oak wood on the centre console adds richness, while monotone upholstery and floor mats elevate the cabin.

There is also a new steering wheel, which retains physical controls alongside capacitive ones. Dual wireless charging pads add everyday convenience. Technology takes a major leap with the enhanced AI virtual assistant. The assistant lives permanently on the zero layer of the screen as an animated avatar, subtly changing colour and brightness based on the tone and mood of the interaction.

Rear-seat passengers are treated to a world of indulgence with seats that invite you to sink in and relax. Yet this is also a car build for those who work on the go—there are video conferencing facilities in every seat—even the driver's—with built-in support for Microsoft Teams. Notes and calendar functions are integrated as well, allowing appointments and reminders to sync seamlessly.

We were even given the opportunity to take the updated S-Class for a short drive around the Sindelfingen factory grounds, just enough to hint at the depth of change beneath the surface. The version we experienced was the all-new V8, and it's a monster in the best possible way. With a staggering 537 hp and 750 Nm of torque, the punch is instant and unmistakable the moment you put your foot down. Our drive was admittedly too short to fully explore its on-road character, but even in that brief time, the impression it left was undeniable.

Having seen and experienced the 2026 S-Class firsthand, one thing is abundantly clear: Mercedes-Benz has raised the bar. If luxury, performance, and effortless composure are what you seek, the S-Class remains the definitive answer.

Meet Istanbul's pampered cats

feedback@livemint.com

Kanyon is getting fat. Since someone stole his basket, this white cat with grey markings who lives at an Istanbul shopping centre has been showered with snacks, love and affection. News of his plight brought out countless well-wishers, who have handed him endless supplies of food, toys, a comfortable cat house, and his very own Instagram page run by a fan. He's not alone: according to City Hall, Istanbul has more than 160,000 cats living on its streets who are regularly fed and fussed over by the city's 16 million residents.

These street cats are looked after with an almost religious devotion. Whether on the Asian or European side of Istanbul, or the ferries connecting them, cats can be seen everywhere, snoozing on restaurant chairs, wandering through supermarkets or curled up in shop windows. And they are rarely, if ever, disturbed.

Like Kanyon, many strays have turned into much-loved neighbourhood mascots. In Kadikoy, locals set up a bronze statue in 2016 to immortalize Tombili (Turkish for "chubby"), a pot-bellied feline whose characteristic pose, lounging on benches with one paw draped over the edge, spawned countless internet memes. At the neighbouring Topkapi Palace, for years the opulent residence of the Ottoman sultans, they have just restored a centuries-old cat flap. "Cats have always been here, no doubt because they are clean and close to humans," the site's director Ilhan Kocaman told AFP.

Piramal Pharma sees revival signs in CDMO biz

ANJALI SINGH
Mumbai, 29 January

Piramal Pharma on Thursday said it was seeing early signs of recovery in demand for its contract development and manufacturing organisation (CDMO) business, even as the segment continued to face pressure from inventory destocking and slower early-stage order inflows during the ongoing financial year.

Speaking to the media after the results for the third quarter of 2025-26 (Q3FY26), Piramal Pharma Chairperson Nandini Piramal said there had been a pickup in requests for proposals (RFPs), alongside improving biopharma funding conditions in the US. However, she cautioned that the conversion of RFPs into firm orders typically takes time. "These are early signs of recovery. RFPs are up, but the translation into orders will take about six months," she said, reaffirming the company's FY26 guidance of mid-single-digit revenue rise.

Piramal Pharma Chairperson Nandini Piramal said there had been a pickup in requests for proposals (RFPs), alongside improving biopharma funding conditions in the US. However, she cautioned that the conversion of RFPs into firm orders typically takes time.

She added that Piramal Pharma is seeing higher RFP activity, especially for its North American facilities with differentiated capabilities. Despite the Y-o-Y pressure, Nandini said the company expects sequential improvement in Q4FY26, which has historically been its strongest quarter, though comparisons with last year may remain challenging due to a strong base.

Alongside the operating update, the company announced a $35 million all-cash acquisition of the branded injectable Kenalog from Bristol Myers Squibb. The acquisition includes potential milestone-based payouts and is expected to generate $30 million-40 million in annualised sales.

The company attributed the weaker performance largely to continued inventory destocking in one of its large on-patent commercial products, affecting its CDMO business. In Q3, revenue from its CDMO business fell 9 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) to ₹1,166 crore.

The company health care business grew 20 per cent Y-o-Y in Q3FY26, supported by 13 new product launches and strong traction in power brands such as Littles and Lacto Calamine.
